

Grant Seeker Expense Integration

As a grant recipient you must accurately reconcile your spending back to your program goals and budget. However, limited access to your organization's financial system or reduplication of data entry can create administrative headaches and reduce the efficiency of your grant-funded programs.

Grant recipients need to track program spending to ensure budgets are easily and accurately reconciled and drawdown is maximized. How do you do this when expense information cannot be directly accessed by your grant management system (GMS)?

When spending happens in one system and grant management in another, connecting the dots from program activities to expenses is challenging. Manually entering data to reconcile spend against the grant budget is time consuming and error prone.

AmpliFund is the only GMS provider to successfully develop an out-of-the box integration for the most common ERP systems that is set up quickly, reliably, and early in the implementation process to reduce administrative burden and increase transparency.

GMS + Expense Integration

AmpliFund seamlessly transfers expense records from the customer's ERP system into our platform, expertly associating the expenses with the corresponding grant and grant budget allocations. This reconciliation can take place once a week on Saturday morning or daily (Monday through Friday) to ensure our customers can access the data they need when they need it.
